ODE TO THE INSTITUTE. Held at Woodsfield from Jan. 7to Jan. 11.

Hall this successful Institute That teaches young ideas to shoot, bose President we all admire, And need I say, 'tis W. F. Wire?

We've all enjoyed the time quite well

As fainte ages will surely tell, And proudly filled with hope's bright blush What else could be, with such a Bacsal And merry bells rang to and fro And after a nice, delicious look, His eve a wink, his nose a crook, Dancing about and explanation

It must indeed be true of all On whom this may unfortunately fall. But then I'm got a Huxiey man-As looking on ancestral apes. If Darwin's lineage of mea Goes back to creatures of the den, May not the tune change, dear Darwin, When great posterity will begin And I'll hurra what I believe, Harra for Adam Hurrah far Bre! But ere we close our little lay, And joy and mirth have passed away, We now shall close our perty theme;

Who came our path to kindly cheer; To all we owe our gratitude And lips are slow to make it. It soundeth like the willow's moan When Autumn winds awake it; It soundeth like the waves O'er some lone island sighing: But we say it now to you, And wait for your replying.
